BITTER FIGHTING NEAR KOENIGSBERG

MOSCOW, March 3.—

Russian forces hammered into the outskirts of the Pomeranian coastal city of Koeslin today after cutting the Danzig-Stettin military highway in a drive to the Baltic which isolated north-eastern Pomerania, Danzig and the Polish corridor, according to Nazi reports.

The German transoceanic agency said Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian army, driving northward in an attempt to cut off thousands of German troops threatening the Soviet central front before Berlin, held a five-mile stretch of the coastal highway.

Thirty localities fall The Soviet high command, failing to confirm the Nazi reports, said only that 30 localities fell to Red forces fighting in the area of the captured Pomeranian stronghold of Neustettin to the south.

Declaring the coastal highway had been cut between Koeslin and Schlau, Berlin placed Rokossovsky's forces at Zanzow, five miles northeast of Koeslin, where the road runs within eight miles of the sea, with no other highway between it and the coast.

Front dispatches said that in a final bid to avoid final entrapment of their troops, the Germans hurled tank reserves into the coastal fighting, risking even those intended for the defense of Berlin.

Bitter Fighting Meanwhile, the Soviet high command reported bitter fighting between Zintzen and Mehlsack, southwest of the encircled East Prussian (Continued on Page Two)

PA NEWC Observes

Apparently the weather man is beginning to think that it is time to join in the spring drive. Weather this morning was mild, temperature readings on the thermometer being between 55 and 60.

Local streams in Lawrence county, which a few days ago were at a high stage, dropped rapidly. Most of them are about normal stage again.

Although Pennsylvania auto license plates do not expire until March 31, Pa. Newc notes that several owners are already sporting their new 1945 tags. They are just the reverse of last year's plates, with blue lettering on a yellow background.

C. J. William Gustafson, the genial president of The News, reports that he has snowdrops in bloom at his place on the Pulaski road. Another of Pa. Newc's boys has also noticed buds on his, and reports that crocus buds are above the ground, just waiting for a few more nice warm days before bursting into bloom. These are sure signs that spring is just around the corner.

Mrs. John M. Grommes of 609 Allen street reports that she has a forsythia plant in her front window on which there are over 200 golden blooms. The plant also had many blooms on it this time last year.

Duesseldorf, Cologne And Bonn Objectives Of Advancing Allies

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

Duesseldorf, Cologne and Bonn—ancient seats of German culture, learning and industry but fated by decree of a long-disappeared Adolf Hitler to be degraded into battle grounds—emerged as immediate objectives of swiftly-advancing allied armies today.

In conjunction with unconfirmed reports that American ninth army patrols which seized the Duesseldorf suburb of Neuss already have probed across the Rhine bridges left intact, a speedily rebuilt by United States engineering skill, front-line dispatches confirmed a general German withdrawal to the eastern banks of the river.

Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., commanding army forces in the Pacific Ocean area, announced today.

Battle Develops Into Race For Rhine Bridges

PARIS, March 3.—(INS)—Dispatches from the American Ninth Army front reported today that the battle now had developed into a race for Rhine bridges, those which remain.

The possibility that large numbers of Germans are unable to flee eastward across the Rhine was reported. Whether the Allies reach the bridges in the next few hours, one side pointed out, it seemed possible that the Germans would blow them up and that trapped German army units would be finished off on the west bank.

BEATS AGED FATHER FOR OLD GRUDGE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 3.—(INS)—A 70-year-old Little Rock man was near death today from injuries reportedly inflicted by his son for a whipping administered nearly 35 years ago.

W. M. Blanton, an insurance agent, was hospitalized as the result of severe head gashes allegedly received when he was repeatedly struck with a hand ax wielded by his son, Benjamin, 42.

The younger Blanton, was taken into custody of police, stated that he had held a grudge against his father for a whipping he received 35 years ago, investigating officers reported.

Last Strategic Height On Iwo Falls To Yanks

By JOSEPH A. BOBS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, GUAM, March 3.—Lieut. Gen. Holland M. Smith's Devil Dogs, seizing the last strategic height on Iwo Jima, fought their way downhill today into the Japanese hordes pocketed at the northernmost end of the key island.

Hammering their way through the center of the Japanese positions on Iwo, the Marines gained up to 700 yards and drove a wedge "deep into enemy lines" north of the third and last airstrip. Supported by withering barrages, the leathernecks beat down determined Japanese resistance to capture hill 362.

Capture of Island Near Latest reports placed spearheads of the U. S. Third Marine Division only 1,400 yards from the northernmost tip of Iwo. Indicating that complete capture of the island—recently predicted by Gen. Smith, the fleet marine commander—may be expected within a few weeks.

With seizure of the 362-foot-high topographical feature, the invasion troops obtained a vantage point from which to direct their artillery—including the huge and deadly "long tons"—into the trapped enemy forces. Occupation of this last key height on the island which lies only 750 miles from Tokyo, assured (Continued on Page Two)

LONDON, March 3.—Smashing daylight attacks upon German industrial installations, and communications in the interior of the Reich and behind the Eastern Front were hammered home today by nearly 2,000 American planes in the 19th consecutive day of onslaught.

Some 1,100 Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by 700 Mustangs and Thunderbolts, hit at three industrial plants in Brunswick, four oil refineries northwest of the city, synthetic fuel plants at Hannover, Magdeburg and Ruhland, rail yards at Chemnitz behind the Eastern Front, and other objectives in the enemy homeland.

The presence of Allied craft over Osnabrueck, Rhine and other areas of the Reich was reported by the Germans.

Hint New Red Drive On Baltic

LONDON, March 3.—(INS)—The German high command hinted today that another Russian drive toward the Baltic is under way.

The official statement said that Red tank spearheads east of Stargard in Pomerania had driven north of Dramburg, indicating a new thrust toward the coast from the original offensive moving toward Koeslin and Stettin. Dramburg lies between those two areas.

The communiqué said the Russians threw fresh forces into battle in Eastern Pomerania but claimed the Soviet moves had been blocked.

Republican Governor Of North
Dakota May Give Job Back
To Defeated Senator

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(INS)—Former Sen. Gerald Nye, who was defeated last fall, may come back to the Senate by appointment to succeed Sen. John Moses (D) who died early today in Rochester, Minn.

Nye was defeated in a three-cornered race last fall, but Fred Aandahl, a Republican and close friend of Nye, was elected governor of North Dakota and will make an appointment to fill the vacancy until the next election.

A vigorous fight was waged against Nye. He was attacked as an isolationist because of his bitter opposition to the pre-war Roosevelt foreign policy.

Appointment of a Republican to succeed Moses would make the Senate lineup Democrats 55; Republicans 40 and Progressives 1. It would be a new high mark for the Republicans for the last 13 years.

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 3.—(INS)—A jury today had found Edgar D. Duffy, 58, ex-chef of the Mountain View hotel, guilty of first degree murder in the "fire death" on Mary Criss, 48, a maid at the hotel.

The verdict carried a recommendation of life imprisonment. Duffy was charged with assaulting the woman after smothering her with bed clothes, and then setting fire to the bed, January 9.

Yanks Extend Island Control In Philippines

By FRANK ROBERTSON

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, March 3.—American liberation forces, completing occupation of Palawan's main harbor and another airfield, gained "practical control today of that key island lying midway between the central Philippines and the Indies.

At the same time, by another surprise amphibious assault which wrested Lubang Island from the Japs the Yanks of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command finished securing the main island waterway through which supplies and reinforcements are funneled into the Luzon battle area.

MacArthur, in his regular communiqué, revealed the new landings on Lubang which, he said, "commands the western exit of Verde passage."

Troops of the 24th Division of Lieut. Gen. Robert Eichelberger's U. S. Eighth Army landed on this island northwest of liberated Mindoro. They encountered only "negligible" resistance.

Taking Of Palawan By MacArthur's Forces Heavy Blow For Japs

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially For U. S. N.)

While American-British forces on the western front and Russians in the east back their way through the colorful defenses of the German Reich in the synchronized west-east offensive that may bring the end of the war in Europe, Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Southwest Pacific theater of war has slipped over a typical MacArthur smoothie on the Japanese, surprising and capturing Puerto Princesa, chief city of Palawan strategic Philippine Island, with its important air strips, almost without casualties.

The soldiers, sailors and airmen of the Mikado, it seems, were concentrating on all-important Luzon, 250 miles to Palawan's north, and is a life and death battle was, and is, going on between American and Japanese forces. MacArthur had been concentrating on the struggle on Luzon too, but he got the idea that the Japs were so wrapped up in fighting around Manila that they were not paying any attention to keeping their guard up in other areas. So he took time off to plan a stroke by the veteran 4th infantry division, far from the scene of the Luzon fighting.

AMERICAN FORCES AT RHINE

The watch on the Rhine, American style, has begun with 83rd Division elements of Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's Ninth Army having pushed their way to the strategic river's bank. The Yanks had to force their way across the Neuss canal, which the Nazis defended by means of tanks and self-propelled guns. While the Ninth was engaged in smashing 11 miles beyond Muenchen-Gladbach into the city of Krefeld, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army, massed tanks and infantrymen ready to storm the last few miles into Germany's fourth largest city and capital of the Rhineland, Cologne, Canadian First and British Second Army forces, 20 miles northwest of where the Ninth Army was approaching the Rhine, have crunched southward nearly a mile, threatening to join the Americans in a rampage through the sprawling Ruhr industries.

Fanned by high winds, fire which broke out in the old C. C. Dickson home at 125 West Grant street, which was being remodeled by the Chambers Motor company, which recently purchased the property, completely gutted the structure at 6 o'clock this morning. Damage of upwards of $5,000, covered by insurance, was done by the blaze. Fire Chief James E. Thomas reports. Cause of the fire was not determined.

BLAZE FANNED BY HIGH WINDS

When two fire companies from Central fire station arrived at the scene, in response to a telephoned alarm, they found the structure burning fiercely. Box 18, which would have called additional help to the scene, and which was put on by the firemen before they left for the scene, failed to get through, the alarm system being out of order because of the storms of the past few days.

PARIS, March 3.—A juncture of the American Ninth and Canadian First Army west of the Rhine, forming a trap encircling thousands of panic-stricken, disorganized Nazis, became imminent late today amid a flood of reports that the Americans already are over that historic waterway.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's spokesmen announced that the two armies are expected to meet at any hour now. Their juncture, which probably will be reached in the area opposite Duisburg—the world's greatest inland port—will cut off thousands of fleeing Germans and complete a major step in the announced objective of destroying enemy armies west of the Rhine, observers said.

Report Patrols Across Rhine Paris newspapers were flooded with published reports, that the American Ninth Army already has sent patrols strolling across the Rhine at several points and the Nazi DNB agency said a terrific battle was in progress for the bridge linking captured Neuss with Duesseldorf.

Official sources, however, said they had no confirmation of any of these assertions.

A hard battle raged on the approaches to Cologne, now virtually isolated by American First Army troops which reached the Rhine above and below the city while driving to within some four miles of it in a direct frontal assault, according to late front dispatches.

Salvation Army Board Re-elects Present Officers

Annual Election Meeting Held In Salvation Army Home On North Jefferson Street Friday

At the annual election meeting of the Advisory Board of the Salvation Army, held in the Army Home, 120 North Jefferson street, Friday evening, the group of officers which has served so efficiently during the past year, was re-elected.

They are: president, John Shaw; vice-president, John W. Patterson; secretary, James C. Brice; treasurer, Roy V. Shaffer. Directors re-elected for the coming year in addition to the officers, are: Charles E. Allen, Rev. Abram P. Shaffer, Rev. J. Calvin Rose, J. Audley Book, Thomas Mansell, Ralph S. Reed, Dr. Hyman Frank, Howard Burr, John P. Brinton, R. K. Akers, Robert L. Wallace, Jack Dunlap, Edwin O. Reed and Charles Weitz.

Reports of various activities show that the Salvation Army has been extremely busy in all departments during the past year, and have accomplished a great amount of good. At the present time, a campaign is being waged to provide a station wagon for the use of the Army here, as their activities cover the entire county. It was reported that a large amount still needs to be raised for this purpose.

Heavy bombardment of the RAF yesterday blasted points within 500 feet of the Deutz suspension bridge in an effort to cut off enemy forces.

Numerous additional towns were overrun by the Ninth army west and northwest of Duesseldorf.

Near Junction With Canadians After reaching the Rhine at Neuss another force of Americans streaked ahead to the waterway at Garsenstadt, above Duesseldorf.

The northward drive of other Ninth Army units brought the Americans to within five miles of a junction with the Canadian First Army.

While the Americans driving north the Canadians smashed south and at headquarters it was said that German resistance was thoroughly disorganized as the Nazis withdrew as best they could.

A British radio report, heard by NBC, said that the Germans were reported in full retreat on the western half of the British-Canadian front between the Mass (Meuse) and Rhine rivers.

Armored spearheads of the Ninth were reported in dispatches from the front to have scored new advances of up to 10 miles.

Forward elements of the Ninth were reported within two miles of the outskirts of Duesseldorf itself.

Ninth Army forces on the western flank captured the town of Geldern and entered Roermond, on the Netherlands frontier.

The 35th Division occupied Geldern. The same outfit occupied Nieuwkirk, to the east, and mopped up other villages.

attack he planned achieved complete strategic and tactical surprise. When the 41st division went ashore at Puerto Princesa after air and naval bombardments, it met little resistance, achieving complete and speedy success with few losses.

Palawan is a 300-mile finger of land stretching from not far south of the southern extremity of Luzon almost to the northern tip of Borneo. It is described as the fifth largest of the Philippine Islands in size, but its strategic importance depends not on its area but its position. Bridging, as it does, the gap between the main Philippine Islands and the northernmost of the Dutch East Indies it constituted from 1942 until recently an extremely important staging base and link in the shortest and most direct air route between the main islands of Nippon and their conquered empire of the East Indies and Malaya.

Although Palawan's importance to Japan was considerably reduced when MacArthur's forces established themselves first in Leyte and Mindoro then in Luzon, its strategic significance remained great and it was reported to be strongly defended by a division of Japanese infantry supported by air detachments and light naval forces. Besides harbor defenses, there are at Puerto Princesa two Japanese air fields and a seaplane base which are recorded in dispatches as having been taken by American troops.

Significance of the taking of Palawan lies in the fact that it is the closest U. S. forces have yet come to the mainland of Asia. Puerto Princesa lying approximately 550 miles from Cebu, the strategic port on the coast of French Indo-China recently target of an air strike and naval bombardment by Admiral William F. Halsey's Third Fleet.

Germans Flee Eastward Routed German Forces Fled Eastward, Leaving Personal Belongings Strung on the Highways and Fields.

German forces were surrendering in droves along the entire Third Army front.

The 87th Division on the Third's north flank, cleaned out 62 pillboxes yesterday. It was learned that 100 prisoners surrendered en masse from one single pillbox.

When Ninth Army forces entered Roermond, an important communications point, they found that German troops had cleared out, leaving the town heavily mined.

Units of the Eighth Armored Division cleared Wachendorf seven miles north of Venlo. Farther east, the 8th Division operating near Krefeld cleared the town of St. Toni.

Ninth Army forces which reached the Rhine were in the process of clearing the west bank north and south of Neuss, opposite Duesseldorf. About 3,000 Germans were taken prisoner yesterday.

May Appeal Case Of Police Chief Who Shot Workers

PITTSBURGH, March 3.—(INS)—Louis Little, attorney for Stone township Police Chief William C. Duerr, today planned to seek an appeal after Duerr was convicted of two charges of involuntary manslaughter in the "mistake slayings" of two war workers last June.

The verdict returned by the seven woman-five man jury, was unanimous. The police official faces a maximum sentence of three years' imprisonment and a $2,000 fine on each of the charges.

Duerr had been acquitted of voluntary manslaughter charges in the same case February 7.

the marines that they had completed their last up-hill fight on Iwo. From here on, the terrain advantages are all the Yanks'.

Small Arms Fire "Intense" fire from Japanese small arms, artillery and mortars met the steadily-advancing leathernecks according to an official navy communiqué which told also of one vain enemy counter-attack. "Smaller" advances were scored by the Americans in all sectors of the trans-Iwo battlefield.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, in a communiqué which declared that "destruction of enemy caves and strongpoints on Iwo is continuing," said that 7127 Jap dead have been counted up to noon on Friday. In addition, some 32 of the enemy have been taken prisoner.

Meanwhile, estimates placed the number of enemy dead as high as half the 20,000 Japs believed to have comprised the Iwo garrison when the vanguard of between 45,000 and 50,000 invaders stormed ashore on the island 13 days ago.

With all three of Iwo's airbases under American domination, the Yanks are assured bases from which to mount fighter cover for bombing craft heading for the Japanese homeland, three hours flying time distant.

FIRE CALL FROM FARM HOME NEAR NEW WILMINGTON

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, March 3.—New Wilmington firemen made a run to the home of Dave Williamson, on the New Wilmington-Pulaski road, about two miles west of town, at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

From reports, an effort had been made to hasten a fire in a stove with kerosene, and a small explosion occurred. The blaze did not cause much damage, and was extinguished when firemen arrived.

Mr. Williamson is reported as having been slightly burned.

Republicans Score Shameful Waste By Administration

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(INS)—The 10 Republican members of the house ways and means committee today reluctantly approved legislation boosting the national debt limit to 300 billion dollars because "We are unable to prevent the continued shameful waste by the administration in public spending of all kinds."

In a minority report on the debt limit bill, they disclosed that through the insistence of Republican members, the committee has instructed the treasury department to bring in a report on ways and means of reducing the federal debt.

Their report pointed out that in boosting the debt limit from 260 to 300 billion dollars the federal debt will be a charge of almost $10,000 on each of the nation's 30 million families.

"It means that every new-born American babe starts life tagged with a debt to the federal government of near $2500," the report stated.

It added that the exigencies of war and the necessity for protecting the national credit compels the Republicans to acquiesce in the legislation.

Germans Increase Artillery Action On Italian Front

ROME, March 3.—(INS)—Increasing their artillery action on the American Fifth Army front in Italy, the Germans yesterday with more than 500 rounds of big gun fire, Allied Mediterranean headquarters reported today.

American artillery and mortars replied with heavy fire, installations and transports in the Mount Castellaro and Galliano areas.

On the Eighth Army front, several enemy patrols were beaten off. In the air war, the Mediterranean Air Force flew 1,350 sorties.

Medium forces of heavy bombers hit communications in the Lanz area and railroads at Brescia in North Italy. R.A.F. heavy and medium bombers attacked railroads at Verona in northeast Italy, while coastal planes hit rail targets and barracks in Northwest Italy and planes of the Balkan Air Force attacked enemy transport and other targets in Yugoslavia. Three enemy aircraft were destroyed and thirteen Allied aircraft are missing.

Wage Strikes Close Etna Plant Friday

PITTSBURGH, March 3.—(INS)—Strikes staged simultaneously by two locals of CIO-United Steel workers of America today closed down the Spang-Chaffault works of National Supply company, Etna.

Production work halted last night when a strike started in the shops, involving approximately 2,000 employees. A wage dispute was reported to be the issue.

Approximately 100 office workers, members of another local have been striking since Thursday in a demand that a veteran employee be returned to his former position, a company spokesman said.

building was a raging furnace. Firemen did valiant work in keeping the blaze from spreading to the new building, immediately adjoining the old homestead.

The loss to the Chambers Motor company will be a severe one, however, as the old homestead was being remodeled for use as office and storage space, and some valuable materials were stored in the structure, including the tools of the workmen on the new structure.

The building was last used by the Shenango Pottery company as display rooms for their products. Work of remodeling the structure had almost been completed.

Traffic along Grant street was delayed for several hours because of the blaze and was detoured around the scene of the blaze by city police.

wan, MacArthur said that his 41st Division troops completed occupation of Puerto Princesa, the capital and its harbor. He added that the Yanks also seized the Iwahig penal colony and airfield, bringing to three the number of divisions taken since they went ashore two days ago.

Capture of Palawan, most westerly of the Philippines archipelago, would sever the Japs from their rich sphenoid to the south and provide the Yanks with a potential invasion stepping-stone to French Indo-China and Borneo.

Meanwhile, on Luzon, elements of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th and 8th Infantry divisions hammered the Japs along the Antipolo-Wawa line east of Manila. The enemy is "endeavoring to cover this final mountain retreat in the First Corps area," from this position, according to the communiqué.

Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenny's far eastern airforce continued to bomb and strafe Jap positions along the various Luzon battle-fronts, dropping 120 tons of explosives upon the enemy near Ipo, which is situated north of Montalban. Many fires also were touched off by fighter-bomber strikes at San Fernando, in La Union Province, and other conflagrations were started near Cebu city in the Visayas, when light U. S. Naval units shelled the enemy shore positions there.

BOY'S DEATH ENDS WRESTLING MATCH

PITTSBURGH, March 3.—(INS)—A friendly wrestling match between two adolescent boys today had ended in the death of Eugene Burchick, 14, of Shaler township. The Burchick youths' death resulted from shotgun wounds sustained when the play became rough and one of the boys brandished a shotgun "and fired it off." The gun accidentally went off, police said, fatally wounding Burchick.

LT. GEN. HARMON AND NINE OTHERS ON PLANE, MISSING

Next Of Kin Notified

A T-Sgt. McInerney, whose full name is not now available, was a passenger.

Next of kin have been notified by the war department.

Army and navy planes and ships are conducting the most extensive search operation ever known in the Pacific in an attempt to locate the missing airmen. All available air and surface craft were dispatched to the area in which the plane is believed to have gone down and the search is being continued.

The last report from the big transport which was Gen. Harmon's personal plane, indicated an ample fuel supply for the remainder of the flight. Weather conditions in the area over which the plane was flying were reported good and it is believed that the sea was calm.

DUESSELDORF, COLOGNE AND BONN OBJECTIVES

strategy is probably neither psychological nor psychiatric—it is far more elemental. In Hitler's plans for the prosecution of this war has always lain, predominant the belief that it is just as it surely will be another can be launched and fought a generation hence provided that manufacturing centers, the sources of aggression—are left more or less intact and the keel-boards of a new German war machine built even before the smoldering embers have died out from the old.

New Cologne Border

German radio reports placed advanced American elements only a mile and a half from the western border of Cologne and Paris broadcasts said American troops had crossed the Rhine to the north. Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had no confirmation of these developments, but official announcements and front-line dispatches all lent emphasis to the supreme commander's declaration of yesterday that the western front of Europe thus far has been "eminently successful."

There were few fresh events on other fronts. United States Marines on Iwo Jima in the Pacific pressed steadily against Japanese troops pocketed in an increasingly perilous position in the north, while the Russians, aided by widespread allied bombing attacks, moved ever closer to the Baltic and promised early bisection of hard-pressed Nazi forces guarding the Pomeranian approaches to Berlin.

Mrs. Anna Pyle, of Croton avenue, is spending the week end at Mason hospital, L. I., visiting her son, Pvt. Robert Pyle, who has just returned from overseas, where he was taken ill. She is accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. David D. Reid, of Brookville, Pa.

Miss Dawn Gibson, this city, who is enrolled at Green Mt. Junior College is recovering in Jameson Memorial hospital where she underwent a tonsilectomy. Dawn has been quite ill since the holiday vacation period.

Mrs. Mildred DeCristofore, daughter of R. D. 4, has left to be with her husband, Pvt. Louis DeCristofore, who is stationed at Ft. Jackson, S. C.

On March 1 a daughter was born to Capt. and Mrs. William J. Wallace of Quantico, Va., at the Marine hospital at Quantico, according to word received by Mrs. Millie Wallace of Pearson street. The baby has been named Judith Ann.

Mrs. Mildred Meister, of 222 North Walnut street, is improving slowly at her home following a six weeks' illness, due to a heart condition.

Still Developing

At the rate the Allied armies are advancing, it will quickly be revealed whether the Germans intend to make a stand on the Rhine or whether they will repeat their marathon through France and streak for northern Germany. When the answer to that question is in, it should not be hard to judge how much longer the war in Europe will last.

General Eisenhower made no bones about the fact that he would prefer to meet the main German armies on the Cologne plain. If the Germans merely fight a stubborn delaying action on the Rhine, there may be another pause while the Allies mass strength to vault that formidable river barrier.

The low caliber of many captured Nazi troops and the steady disintegration of German defenses before the Allied advance are accepted as proof that many crack German units have already been withdrawn across the Rhine. The Germans have not as yet thrown all their available reserves into the struggle unless they are far weaker than anyone has guessed.

But if the Germans try to make a stand on the Rhine, General Eisenhower still has several cards to play. The battle is still developing and will continue to grow in ferocity until the end.

Shift From Cities

A decentralization of industry seems to be in progress in this country that will increase in postwar years. This decentralization was in progress before the war, brought about by improved highway and transportation systems, greater accessibility of raw materials and improved living conditions.

In the days to come the great cities will face more severe competition from medium-sized cities and small towns. Industrial and rural America will become more interdependent. All this will be a spur to more practical and efficient industrial building in the great cities.

For the first time in a postwar period, many economists believe, there will not be a bulge in big city populations after this conflict. Humanity, with more elbow room in its daily living, if with fewer bright lights, will be the happier for it.

Foeman's Praise

Americans have good reason to know and take pride in the valor of their fighting men. The record from every theater of war leaves no doubt.

But valor and experience in war are two different things. While courage may be inherent, combat experience comes only the hard way. The combination is necessary for the highest battle efficiency. Even the enemy admits that American troops on the Western Front now have the combination.

The admission comes from a German major who has fought against American troops in North Africa, Italy, France and Germany. He was captured by the U. S. Ninth Army in its big offensive across the Roer river. Here is what he had to say about the Americans as he has known them from North Africa to now:

"They were always tough, but they lacked experience then. I think the American Army is just now reaching its peak. They've shown more daring and warlike technique over the past week-end than I can ever remember seeing before. Their integration of different arms has surprised us. We still don't know where we're at."

That is the comment of a German professional soldier, and nobody denies the German professional soldier's skill in war. Grudging praise from such a source is praise indeed. It bodes no good for Germany's chances of stopping the present drive.

Wrong Guessers In Difficulty

The action of Turkey in declaring war on Germany and Japan recalls to mind the dilatory action of Turkey in taking a stand in the first World War. Turkey made a wrong guess in aligning itself with Germany, and was knocked out of the conflict by Great Britain.

Turkey's decision to become a belligerent is a bit belated, and even the Turkish officials admit that the action was taken after a bit of pressuring by the United Nations. Turkey may not be called upon to do any fighting, but may assist the Allied cause in other ways.

If the United Nations are given unrestricted access to the Black Sea by way of the Dardanelles, they may find it advisable to use the waterway in sending help to civilian Russia, or even transporting military supplies to China by way of the Siberian railway.

Spain has been given to understand that the support which that country has given to the Nazis in this war is not forgotten, which means in effect that Spain will have no voice in the postwar adjustments for Europe. The Spaniards placed their money on the wrong pony in this war.

There is no reason to expect Sweden to cast her lot with the United Nations at this late day. Sweden has kept up a profitable trade with Germany as a neutral nation, and is not likely to change this policy, at least not before the Russians drive the Nazis out of the Baltic waters.

If present successes of the United Nations can be capitalized to bring about complete victory, they should be able to carry out their program for Europe without the help of nations that guessed wrongly in the early stages of the war. Countries like Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania will need help in the future more than they will be able to give it.

Mayor LaGuardia suggests that we reaffirm our faith in the Atlantic Charter. Isn't that a good deal like writing a letter to Santa Claus?

No doubt there are times now when Hitler realizes he would have been better off had he gone through life with a paint bucket in either hand.

Goering's boast at the beginning of the war that no bombs would ever fall on Germany seems to call for an explanation that conditions have changed.

Hitler seems to have abandoned his former conviction that the bigger the lie the more readily it will be believed. His radio propagandists now scream that the Allies plan to exterminate Germany.

WASHINGTON CALLING by MARQUIS CHILDS

Italy Is Grimmiest Theatre Of War

ROME, March 3.—Not long ago, thousands of letters came to fighting men in this theater from relatives in America saying how glad they were that Joe or Bill or Jim was in Italy and not in the midst of all the fighting in France and Germany.

Those letters made men here anxious and depressed. It only because they showed such complete ignorance about what perhaps is the toughest front in the entire war. Even today, when the situation is "static," it might still be classed as the grimmest theater of war, although in various parts of the world that classification would certainly be challenged.

The enemy has had all the advantages of geography as the Americans and British have fought their way northward along the spine of bleak mountains that runs up the Italian peninsula. Towering peaks have been held by a few Germans with artillery, and each peak has been taken by direct assault.

The stronghold of Livignano, captured last fall, is an example. To take it, the Americans had to scale escarpments as steep as the palisades of the Hudson or the sheer rock bluffs of the upper Mississippi. It meant going up with ropes and every device of the mountain climber. In the first assault on Livignano, one company of the Ninety-first Division was wiped out except for one officer and 12 men.

Men of the Ninety-first told me about Livignano. We were sitting on the side of a mountain in rare winter sunlight a few miles from the front lines. The deep snow of midwinter had gone and, down below, the road along the stream bed was a wallow of mud. The men spoke quietly of Livignano. It had happened and will happen again. This was in their voices.

Before the plain of the Po is reached, there are many peaks and ridges. Already the front is becoming active again. Fifth Army Americans have retaken Monte Belvedere, where they captured last November and then lost to a counter-attack by the enemy. To retake Monte Belvedere, it was necessary to scale sheer rock cliffs, nearly 1,500 feet high, with rope ladders. That's what the men on this front are doing. When positions were "static," in the deep snow of winter, it meant constant patrolling at night in the wilderness of mines and booby traps between the lines. It meant being holed in at the front for two and three weeks at a time, with frostbite almost as much a menace as the enemy.

These are some of the reasons why American soldiers get letters from home congratulating them on the safety and ease of "Sunny Italy." All they ask is some understanding of their achievements and their endurance in the bitter warfare in this hellish mountain country.

Men I have talked to on the Italian front are conscious that they are veterans of this war. Many of them have come through the African campaign, the landings in Italy, and now the siege of the mountains.

In some divisions, the men who first came overseas have long since been entirely replaced and, in some, replacements have in turn been replaced. This is one thing American troops talk about a great deal: The rotation policy which theoretically sends a certain number of men back to America for rest and reassignment. The fact is that more than half of the U. S. troops in this theater are eligible for rotation and they want to know why it isn't happening faster.

German propaganda tries to play on this. Leaders that thundered down over an area behind the lines were based with considerable cleverness on the theme of the contrast between "over here" and "over there." They recited the profits of "armaments" back home and "the butchery" of death in Italy.

While this propaganda is in one sense clever, it is of course a complete waste of energy. Our fighting men have gone through too much to be swayed by any such obvious appeal. They long to go home with an ache that is like a toothache, but they will go home by way of those mountain passes that still lie to the northward.

The enemy has 26 divisions on this front, some of them crack divisions. They are trapped there, pinned against the Alps, with the Allied air forces eating toshup on everything that looks like a mass withdrawal. Because they are pinned between the Po and the Alps, they cannot fight in the West or against the Russians.

That is the achievement of the men on what must never again be called by the foolish phrase, "forgotten front."

BEARS, BUG BEARS AND BUGS
If a bear should take a stroll around your neighborhood, it would probably cause a lot of excitement. People would be very frightened. The bear would perhaps be frightened too. He would hurry away as fast as he could.

Bugs and ticks and insects are sometimes much more dangerous than bears.

We should protect ourselves from flies and mosquitoes and other pests as much as possible.

Food should not be exposed.

Bugs usually found on people are called lice. When found on animals they are called ticks.

They are annoying and dangerous. They should be destroyed right away.

They carry disease and cause a lot of trouble.

Great Game Of Politics

Appointments Of Vandenberg-Stassen

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The presence on the American delegation to the San Francisco conference of two such outstanding Republicans as Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan and Commander Harold Stassen of Minnesota has given rise to much discussion in the last few weeks. Mostly, this has revolved around two points—first, why were these particular men chosen? Second, what course will they pursue?

AS TO the first, there is little room for doubt. Conceding the desirability of having a Republican Senator as a member, Senator Vandenberg was the logical, and almost inevitable choice, made so by his recent utterances on international co-operation and his generally acknowledged soundness in matters of foreign policy. Concerning Mr. Stassen, his election was not so simple. As Mr. Krock, of the New York Times, has pointed out, to reach Mr. Stassen, Mr. Roosevelt had to pass over the only living ex-president, Mr. Hoover, and the titular leader of the Republican party, Governor Dewey. This is said not in disparagement of Mr. Stassen, whose character and equipment are generally recognized, but solely because it happens to be the fact.

THE PASSING over of Mr. Hoover and Governor Dewey was not only deliberate but clearly for personal reasons. It had to be for personal reasons, for between Mr. Roosevelt and the Messrs. Hoover and Dewey there exists no difference on any basic point affecting American plans for a postwar collective security organization or on foreign policy generally. Governor Dewey's declarations in the campaign and his endorsement of the Dumbarton Oaks agreement were clear cut and unequivocal. As for Mr. Hoover, he was an advocate of the Dumbarton Oaks principles long before he was president. Three years ago these principles were laid down in the book which Mr. Hoover wrote in collaboration with Mr. Hugh Gibson. Also Mr. Hoover was a supporter of the League of Nations which Mr. Roosevelt signally failed to support in the 1924 Democratic convention and practically repudiated in 1932 when he was a candidate seeking Heart's support.

SO THERE could have been no reasons of policy for failure to name Mr. Hoover or Mr. Dewey. It had to be for personal reasons—and those are well known. Mr. Roosevelt has a real hate of Mr. Hoover, dating from 1932, increased by the latter's consistent criticism of his New Deal policies and accentuated by the belief that Mr. Hoover has a contempt for his mental processes. Governor Dewey earned the presidential enmity in the last campaign by repeated declaration that the first thing people now wanted to know when the White House spoke was not its important but its truth.

A newly developed method will take the itch out of wool clothing. That means the end of last of the old red underwear joke.

The Parent Problem

By GARY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

VARIOUS TYPES OF IN-LAWS

"Dear Dr. Myers, please be more kind to the grandmothers since you have the habit of referring to them collectively. I would like it very much if you would explain in your column why you and others who greatly influence public opinion insist on using grandmothers and mother-in-law collectively. Any kind, patient, intelligent, ever-loving, self-sacrificing wife or mother would greatly resent such remarks as 'Wives are inclined to be interfering. Mothers are inclined to spoil their children.' 'Wives are inclined to be interfering.'"

"So the kind, patient, intelligent, ever-loving and self-sacrificing mothers-in-law and grandmothers resent such remarks about themselves."

Not All One Piece

"Grandmothers and mothers-in-law are not all cut from one piece. There are as many different kinds as there are hairs on your head. I am one of them, an observing one, and having known a goodly number of grandmothers, some for many years, some even from little childhood days, it has become a clear and plain to me as the nose on my face that, whatever her qualities of mind and of heart, as a little girl, those will be her qualities of mind and heart as a young girl, as a wife, as a mother, a mother-in-law and grandmother."

"Though having felt strongly on this subject for some time, I've never before written any columnist about it and have selected you."

A Good Point

This writer has made a good point. I took my medicine and hope it will have a good curative effect. Nevertheless, since I am human and beset with the usual human frailties, even not unlike those which grandmothers and mothers-in-law are heir to, I probably will have some relapses and need further dosage.

I shall really try to be more careful from now on. I should say "Some grandmothers," some (Continued on Page Seven)

Furor Over Dutch Air Ban Won't Hurt Solon
Queen Wilhelmina Always Conscious Of Station
Fighting Men Get Laugh Out Of Civilian Brags

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The common Congresswoman Emily Taft Douglas churned up with the impulsive statement that she was banned from speaking on a radio program with Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands and Mrs. Roosevelt because she was "a commoner." Perhaps. And then perhaps again. But denial or no denial, shifting the blame or contrariwise, I think there was more fire than smoke in the uproar. Mrs. Roosevelt was not aware of any Dutch remarks that might have discriminated against Mrs. Douglas. Mrs. Roosevelt made this clear in her press conference. But I do think some discriminatory sentences escaped on purpose from official Dutch sources.

Dutch Are Conscious Of Royalty
The Dutch—or the Netherlands—are miffed by the conscious of royalty. They have, I should say, a stronger belief in the divine right of kings, and queens, than possessed by any other European monarchy or empire.

When Queen Wilhelmina visited Washington several years ago everyone who came with curtesy distance was made conscious that her majesty meant to be completely "her majesty" and to enjoy every royal prerogative.

For example, it was announced that Wilhelmina would appear at a press conference with Mrs. Roosevelt during her stay at the White House. Days in advance of the date set upon, the newspaper women who attended Mrs. Roosevelt's conference were asked to submit in writing questions planned to ask the Dutch Queen. These questions were whittled down discreetly. Only a few innocuous ones were left on the mimeographed pages handed to the reporters when they arrived to meet the queen. Each reporter read her own question aloud. The queen replied to the questions from answers likewise prepared in advance for the mimeographed pages.

One mild impromptu question was asked. The reporters wrote down her majesty's mild answer and left the White House. Before they reached the gate came a hurried message from Miss Thompson, Mrs. Roosevelt's able confidential secretary, asking that the impromptu question and answer be off the record.

The solemn attitude was a new experience for the White House newsmen. Mrs. Roosevelt is always frank. And never obviously troubled. It left in the minds of the conference guests the strong feeling that royalty was still royalty.

Therefore, and now I get back to Mrs. Douglas. I think something was said or done by the Dutch officials which inspired the undiplomatic "commoner" remark. Mrs. Douglas—she's the cute little Douglas from Illinois—is far from stupid. She may develop as the cleverest of the newly-elected group of congresswomen. I understand she has acquired a snappy press agent.

The radio said she was likely dressed up by the press agent. It will do Mrs. Douglas no harm, however. On the contrary, it will make her popular with people who are a little fed up with royalty.

Civilians Can't Brag

It might not be a bad idea, nevertheless, if Mrs. Douglas would watch her press agent a little. Mrs. Virginia Jenkins, once congresswoman from Kansas, had a snappy, super, highly-charged press agent. A gentleman.

That exorable fellow turned Mrs. Jenkins into such a patriot that she was practically wringing the life out of the American flag every minute of the day and night. He tried to publicize his client in many other spectacular ways. The unfortunate Mrs. Jenkins was promptly defeated at the next election.

Our fighting men must laugh very hard when they hear some civilian talk about what "we have done for the war."

Civilians have helped as best they could. But there is no possible comparison between what any civilian has done and that of the contribution of the man who has some three million eligible Frenchmen and Belgians. It is true that French troops are fighting effectively on the southern sector of the western front. But so far as the public knows there seems to be no adequate military resources. In Belgium the chief effort of the Allies has been to keep the domestic situation quiet—a police job that is departing from our strength on the fighting front. Italy has a relatively small army in actual combat. Even our neighbor Canada, after weeks of agitation about conscription, apparently has not yet sent many conscripts over seas. All this apropos of Senator Capper's remarks that it seems a little strange for the United States to be drafting some six hundred thousand workers on our farms to make up military manpower shortage, while the resources of these other countries are not being utilized.

Our own military authorities in Europe are too busy engaged in combat to make any effort towards organizing the fighting potentials of France, Italy and Belgium. It would be no greater task for us to arm and equip six hundred thousand fighters in these lands, than to equip the same number of farm workers. It does not seem logical to Senator Capper—or to many other persons—that we should jeopardize our food production by conscripting a great army of labor from agriculture while neglecting to utilize the fighting strength of peoples we have liberated.

My advice to all of you ladies who read that story and who read this is:

"Don't look more than five seconds at your man's nose or eyes or hair or legs. Look inside of him and try to find out what makes him tick, go around. And that takes more than five seconds or five days or five years."

Unless you want to be an old maid—or a divorcee.

The World and the Mud Puddles

FRENCH UNDERMANS NEEDED

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas says he is seeking an explanation of the reason why the United States is blamed for the absence from the European fighting ranks of some three million eligible Frenchmen and Belgians. It is true that French troops are fighting effectively on the southern sector of the western front. But so far as the public knows there seems to be no adequate military resources. In Belgium the chief effort of the Allies has been to keep the domestic situation quiet—a police job that is departing from our strength on the fighting front. All this apropos of Senator Capper's remarks that it seems a little strange for the United States to be drafting some six hundred thousand workers on our farms to make up military manpower shortage, while the resources of these other countries are not being utilized.

Our own military authorities in Europe are too busy engaged in combat to make any effort towards organizing the fighting potentials of France, Italy and Belgium. It would be no greater task for us to arm and equip six hundred thousand fighters in these lands, than to equip the same number of farm workers. It does not seem logical to Senator Capper—or to many other persons—that we should jeopardize our food production by conscripting a great army of labor from agriculture while neglecting to utilize the fighting strength of peoples we have liberated.

My advice to all of you ladies who read that story and who read this is:

"Don't look more than five seconds at your man's nose or eyes or hair or legs. Look inside of him and try to find out what makes him tick, go around. And that takes more than five seconds or five days or five years."

Unless you want to be an old maid—or a divorcee.

THE VANISHED ONES

Oh, where do golfing persons go when winter hides the links with snow. And how, when white the fairway lies. Do golfing persons exercise?

Those afternoons, from spring to fall. They were among us first of all. The first upon the starting tee. And first of all good company.

But with the dismal time of year when thrush and robins disappear, they too departed in the gloom. Deserting course and locker room.

But with the birds again a-wing And purple hyacinth blossoming. Once more the pious we shall see. Awaiting us upon the tee.

Bill To Move Up Date Of Primary Is Subject Of Studies

Bills To Ease Soldier Vote In Local Elections Are On Statute Books Already

HARRISBURG, March 3.—(INS)—Six bills easing voting regulations for members of the armed forces in municipal and primary elections were on the statute books today but a companion measure switching the primary date from September 11 to June 19 still was on Gov. Edward Martin's desk.

The seventh bill was being studied by the justice department for possible errors which might endanger the program.

Under the provisions of the approved measures, qualified electors in military service were exempted from registration while the amount paid by the state to counties for each ballot was boosted from 30 to 40 cents.

The governor also approved a measure changing the time for organization of state committees from the fifth to the sixth Wednesday following primary elections.

Three Meet Death In Separate Crashes

BOSTON, March 3.—(INS)—The Navy announced today that two officers pilots and an enlisted man were killed last night in two separate air crashes at Charlestown, R. I., and Vineyard Sound.

A fighter plane, shortly after taking off at the Charlestown Naval air facility, crashed through the ice covering of a nearby pond and exploded.

The second plane, a torpedo bomber, based at the Martha's Vineyard naval air facility, was seen by accompanying planes to go into a spin and crash into the sea about a mile off Edgartown.

SPOTLIGHT Of Today

DUESSELDORF
(International News Service)

Situated on the west bank of the Rhine 24 miles northwest of besieged and battered Cologne, Dusseldorf is an important industrial and commercial city of nearly a half-million population. With its extensive railroad and dock facilities, it was a key communications center in the prewar days, and its quay handled many large steamers sailing to England, Northern Europe and the Mediterranean.

Dusseldorf is the commercial and manufacturing center of the Ruhr and is a great center of the metallurgical, engineering, machinery, glass and chemical industries. Other important industries are paper, enamel, weaving, spinning, silk, dyes, furniture and brewing.

Long a place of small importance after its founding, it was raised to the rank of a town in 1288 by the Count Adolf of Berg. It suffered severely in the thirty years' war and the War of the Spanish Succession, but recovered its prosperity under the Elector John William of the Palatinate who dwelt in the castle many years until his death in 1716.

In 1795 the town was surrendered to the French after a violent bombardment. After the peace of Lunéville, it was deprived of its fortifications. In 1805 it became the capital of the Napoleonic Duchy of Berg and in 1815 it passed with the Duchy into Russian possession. In 1870, Dusseldorf developed into its present importance as an industrial and commercial town.

MARRIAGE CUSTOM

The evening before a marriage in Bohemia finds the young girl friends of the bride making the bridal wreath, each adding a twig of rosemary and a prayer for the winning of a husband. Only the bridegroom-to-be is permitted to observe the ritual.

Most Girls Keep To 'Cotton' Rule For Union's Calico Ball

Although the shortage of cotton material made a few gowns of other material inevitable at the Union High School Calico Ball, but most of the girls obeyed the rule and came in formals of cotton.

About 150 students turned up for the seventh Calico Ball, which is sponsored each year by the school's Palette club. An additional feature of the evening, was singing by Donna Parks, a senior at the school.

State Police Join 'Safe Brakes' Drive

HARRISBURG, March 3.—(INS)—Pennsylvania State Police were planning today to participate in a six-week nationwide safety campaign of automobile brake inspections in cooperation with the International Association of Chiefs of Police. The drive will open April 15.

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, said only the brakes on cars driven by persons holding learners' cards would be inspected in Pennsylvania when individuals appear for driving examinations. Approximately 130,000 learners' permits were in effect.

Gov. Edward Martin and state and municipal officials have pledged their support in the safety campaign.

Seventh Ward

Church Group Meets
Friday Afternoon

In the ladies parlor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, members of the Opportunity Circle gathered Friday afternoon.

Mrs. F. W. Guy conducted the devotional period.

After the business session Rev. R. L. McKibben, the pastor, gave a book review of "Religious Freedom in South America" by G. P. Howard, which was well received.

A delicious lunch was served by the executive committee headed by Mrs. L. M. Wilkison.

Next meeting of the group will be on April 6.

Wounded Soldier Son Getting Along Fine

Tony Domenick of 302 South Liberty street has received word from his son, T-5 Andy Domenick, attached to the tank destroyer unit, who is in the U. S. army hospital somewhere in England, that he is getting along fine.

This is the first word from T-5 Domenick since his father was notified by the war department in January that his son had been wounded in action in France on January 9.

He has been in the service since 1941 and overseas for eight months.

TEACHERS, OFFICERS APPOINT COMMITTEE

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Brown of East Leasure avenue were hosts to the teachers and officers of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian Sunday school on Friday evening. There was a good attendance.

A nominating committee was chosen to select officers for the Sunday school. Rev. McKibben, the pastor, Mrs. R. L. Drumheller, Mrs. Harold Unangst and E. O. Farver. The committee will report to the school for election on Sunday, March 11.

The hostess served a delicious lunch assisted by Mr. Brown.

Memorial For Pfc. Chester Glenn
A commemoration service is planned for Sunday afternoon, March 4, at 3 o'clock at King's Chapel Methodist church in honor of Pfc. Chester Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn, Wilmington road, who gave his life in the service of his country.
Private Glenn was killed in action in Belgium, January 18, while serving with the U. S. Infantry forces. Previously he had received the Purple Heart for wounds suffered in the invasion of France. He was a graduate of New Castle High school class of 1943.

Half-Way Mark In Campaign Is Reached Sunday
The half-way mark will be reached in the eight-week pre-Easter increase campaign being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, as tomorrow, March 4, will be the fourth Sunday of this effort to make the Sunday schools of this city and county, bigger, brighter and better.
To date the results have been generally good both as to Sunday school and church attendance, some better than last year. The total attendance of the First Presbyterian, Third U. P., Highland U. P., Epworth Methodist, First Baptist, First Methodist and Second U. P. for the third Sunday of last year's campaign was 2,358. This year the total attendance of this group for the third Sunday was 2,459, an increase of 101 over last year.
As the margin of difference in percentage between a number of Sunday schools is small, there may be some changes in standings before the last four weeks are over and Easter arrives. However, the chief purpose of the increase effort is to benefit all of the participating Sunday schools, as there is everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Bishop E. P. Wroth Visits Here Sunday
The Rt. Rev. E. Pinckney Wroth, bishop of the Erie Diocese of the Episcopal church, will conduct holy communion service at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, 550 East Long avenue, on Sunday morning, March 4, at 8:30. Bishop Wroth will conduct communion service at St. Luke's church in Ellwood City. There will be no 11 o'clock service at St. Andrew's on Sunday morning.

Rev. A. J. Calvin At Oak Grove
The Rev. A. J. Calvin of New Castle will preach in the Oak Grove United Presbyterian church Sabbath March 4 at 10:30 a. m. in the absence of the pastor.

Methodists Have Exceeded Quota In Crusade Drive

More Than $23,000 Pledged Toward Fund For Relief And Rehabilitation

Methodist churches of New Castle and vicinity will have cause for rejoicing on Sunday, March 4. They have completed their canvas for the financial appeal on the Crusade for Christ, and every church has met or exceeded its quota.

More than $23,000 has been pledged toward the total appeal of 25 million that the Methodist church is raising for relief and rehabilitation.

Dr. Harold A. McCurdy, district superintendent of the Grove City district, of which New Castle is a part, stated on Friday evening that more than $82,000 had been raised by the churches under his leadership. This is more than $7,000 above the quota askings. It is to be noted that the entire Pittsburgh area was one of the first in the entire country to meet its appeal.

March 4 has been officially designated as "Compassion Sunday." The Methodist church has annually observed this Sunday of March as a day in which its members would share with those whom war had deprived of homes, churches and schools. The General Conference has arranged for the nationwide observance of the Day of Compassion this year ending the financial appeal in the Crusade for Christ.

It is expected that the complete fund will be subscribed by then, and that the church will move on in the other phases of the Crusade for Christ. Many of the buildings destroyed by war have been hit by shells from allied guns or bombs dropped from our own planes. The enemy has taken over buildings housing colleges and hospitals and has used them as ammunition depots and barracks making them bona fide military objectives. Methodists feel that in giving to this fund they are only replacing what war has so destructively done away.

The Crusade for Christ will continue through 1948 with emphasis on evangelism, Christian stewardship, the crusade for a new world order of justice and lasting peace, and the strengthening of the program, enrollment and attendance at the church schools.

mothers-in-laws." Also I should write about some of the good grandmothers and mothers-in-law among my acquaintances, of whom there are many. Perhaps some of my readers would also like to help me by sending me some good descriptive samples.

While the correspondent is right in claiming that qualities of mind and heart tend to carry on from childhood to age, I am sure she would admit that there are certain types of human relationships which modify these qualities.

Human Frailties

Just as we parents are inclined to reveal certain human frailties which parenthood tends to bring out, so also we grandparents and in-laws are inclined to reveal certain human frailties which our grandparenthood and in-lawry tend to uncover. In this sense we may at times be justified in referring to either group collectively provided of course, we remember that the only difference among us who are in any of these groups is that some of us are worse than others, none hoping for perfection.

Nevertheless, since we are prone not to remember this reservation we hardly can escape such criticism as our correspondent offers when we use the "touchy" terms "collectively."

What People Say

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt: "We shall have to take the responsibility for world collaboration or we shall have to bear the responsibility for another world conflict."

New York—Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew sees Japan as yet unweakened by the Allied war against her: "Her foresight in stock-piling will see her through another two years of war. All this we must remember, plus the fact that our supply lines are lengthening, hers shortening."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Lister Hill, Ala., Democratic whip, after hearing President's Yalta report: "I think the senate will ratify a treaty. With the San Francisco conference meeting on April 25, we should have a treaty before the senate by June."

SAN DIEGO—Vice-Adm. John Sidney McCain, fleet task force commander in the Battle of Leyte, suggests a reason for deterioration of Jap fighter pilots: "Probably because the best-trained and first rate ones all have been killed."

County C.E. Board Dinner Meeting

Committee To Work With Ministerial Association On Plans For Summer Services

Lawrence County Christian Endeavor executive board held a tuxedo dinner at the Central Presbyterian church on Thursday evening. Miss Thelma Thompson, Miss Aleta Mae Montgomery, Miss Shirley Gaston and Miss Louise Gaston were the committee in charge.

To arrange for Sunday evening services during the summer a committee, Kenneth Gaston, Mary Elizabeth Norris, Aleta Mae Montgomery, Emma Patton and Rev. J. N. Rainey, was appointed to work with a committee of the New Castle Ministerial Association.

Spring C. E. convention will be held March 23 at the First Christian church.

Devotions were conducted by Mary Elizabeth Norris, assisted by Mrs. Gay Shaw and Rev. Rainey.

Next executive board meeting will be April 15 when Rev. Lester Case, associate state secretary, will be present.

Says Too Many Ask Help From Federal, State Governments

YORK, Pa., March 3.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin had little but scorn today for officials of political subdivisions looking for federal financial aid and for the Americans "who feel that the government owes them a living."

"Our enormous public debt will increase the cost of production, for it must be paid in higher taxes, and taxes are paid by those who work," the chief executive told the York Engineers' Society last night.

"Everybody looks to government for help," he added. "Hat in hand, local government, state government, chambers of commerce and many others are going to Washington and Harrisburg with a tin cup asking for a handout," Governor Martin asserted.

"If this continues it will not be so long until there will be no local government, for financial aid always carries with it supervision and control," he stated. "All these things mean taxes, and taxes, all come from the same pocket."

"The fierce competition for government help can cause dissensions, and internal quarrels are more dangerous to a government than its own foreign enemies," the governor said.

Boy Boosts School Bond Average With Four-Bond Purchase

Not only Room 217, but the whole Ben Franklin Junior High bond drive got an unusual boost this week, when one student, eleven year old Charles Patton of Louane avenue, bought four bonds at once—a record not met by many adults.

Charles' purchase was made possible through his brother, Petty Officer Gayle Patton, who is home on leave after 19 months of active service in the South Pacific. P. O. Patton helped his younger brother to finish out two stamp books which Charles had been filling, and also purchased two bonds outright for him.

Charles is a regular stamp buyer each week, getting stamps for himself and for his three year old brother, Paul, who also shares in the bonds.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

because he was the best alternative to Mr. Hoover or Mr. Dewey. None of this reflects upon Mr. Stassen, whose motives in accepting appointment are above question and whose views likewise are fundamentally in accord with Dumbarton Oaks. Nevertheless, that is how he came to be chosen.

CONCERNING the course to be pursued by Senator Vandenberg and Mr. Stassen, there are those who think that they are likely to dominate the delegation. This notion is based on the belief that not only are they the two most powerful members but that their wholehearted support of the San Francisco outcome is vital to the ratification of the treaty by the Senate. Hence, it is felt that their views will receive every consideration and carry great weight. Fortunately, their views are largely in accord with the Dumbarton Oaks agreement and on no basic point is there much chance of a clash. Certainly none is anticipated. However, there are important details upon which wide divergence is possible. And on these Senator Vandenberg and Mr. Stassen believe they should have complete freedom of action.

NOT THAT either has any thought of partisan politics in this business but neither have they any desire to seem a White House rubber stamp. Neither has the least notion of making trouble, but they do want to know what it is all about and their friends, say, intend to find out. Naturally, the delegates will confer with Mr. Roosevelt, and it is expected he will reveal to them inside facts of the Yalta conference of which the American people know nothing. With this information the delegation will hold its conferences and it is in these conferences that the Messrs. Vandenberg and Stassen are expected to present their ideas and fight for them. There may be some pretty hot debates in these delegation conferences. But the final outcome will be the American position. And no matter what the early divisions among the delegates that position will be supported as a unit. That is the expectation. Anything else would be very bad, indeed.

Ask General Eisenhower what your RED CROSS is doing for our Fighting Men

GENERAL "IKE" knows—better than anybody else—how many of his wounded G.I. boys are saved from death by life-saving Red Cross Blood Plasma!

He knows how a young soldier worries when there's no news from loved ones—or bad news—and how his spirits rise when a special Red Cross Home Service message says everything is O.K. at home.

General "Ike" knows the way a bombing crew, back safe from a perilous mission, go for the coffee and doughnuts the Red Cross girls serve! He knows how the Red Cross is always on the job at the front—day and night—to make G.I. Joe's life a little more like the life he left—back home in the U.S.A.

And this is what General "Ike" says about the Red Cross:

"We simply couldn't get along without it. I consider the Red Cross an auxiliary of my army. They are doing a perfectly magnificent job in every way."

ASK G.I. JOE

He'll tell you what the Red Cross does for him—and how! Listen to this boy's letter to his dad:

"Pop, whenever the Red Cross comes to you for money, give what you can spare, as they are wonderful to us."

And here's another:
"Dad, if you help anything or anybody, please give to the Red Cross because they help us. Plenty! If it wasn't for them, I don't know what our overseas soldiers would do. So Dad, do as I say. Help the Red Cross just for me!"

ASK YOURSELF

Ask yourself: "Have I done as much as I can for my Red Cross—which is at my boy's side—ready to aid, comfort and cheer him?"

You can't do too much to help the devoted workers in this great Army of Mercy—who risk their lives over and over again to bring our millions of G.I. boys the proof that they are not forgotten by their home folks.

The Red Cross is doing your job—doing for your boy what you can't do. But you can help by giving more to the Red Cross now. Its job is stupendous—and it's growing bigger.

Give as much more as you can—today!

GIVE NOW—GIVE MORE

ALCOA FOREMEN'S CLUB HAS MEETING

The Aluminum Company of America Foreman's club New Castle plant held their regular monthly meeting February 27 at the Castleton hotel. Accordion music and pep singing by the members was enjoyed throughout the dinner.

Following the dinner, R. E. McKee, club president, introduced the guests of the evening, Darwin Markwell of Boeing Aircraft company and Professor John Coleman of Geneva college. Professor Coleman gave an interesting talk on the subject "Do Social Revolutions Make History." Mr. McKee then read a telegram from the plant manager complimenting the group on their excellent production record for the current month. The remainder of Health Insurance society $550,000 the evening was spent informally last year.

THE SHORTEST DISTANCE BETWEEN TWO POINTS

Your mind goes back to those days in school when you learned a straight line is the shortest distance between two points. That is also a motor truck route, the shortest distance between the shipping point and the receiving point.

Faster deliveries, less handling, less damage or spoilage, round the clock trucking speeds production, effects mass economies and helps the manufacturer and the consumer. That's motor truck service.

Motor trucks are the only means of transportation for thousands of communities, they link the tiny hamlet with the metropolitan areas, in a straight line, an economical line, in many cases a life line.

WE HAVE ALL THE ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT TIRES

WILL MY TIRES SEE ME THROUGH?

The easy way to find out is to let us check your tires for any causes of tire failure. If repairs are necessary, we'll make them quickly, carefully and reasonably.

MY TIRES ARE GETTING SMOOTH. WHAT SHOULD I DO NOW?

They may need recapping, so drive in today. Let us put new tread on them just the way it's done at the factory—for thousands of extra miles' service. No certificate required.

HOW DO I GET MY RATION CERTIFICATE FOR NEW TIRES?

If you need new tires, and are eligible, we'll fill out and handle your application for you. When it's granted, we'll equip your car with proven B. F. Goodrich Silvertown.

How good are SYNTHETIC TIRES?

Satisfied users wrote the answer

We know how good synthetic B. F. Goodrich Silvertown tires are... and it isn't just on our own say-so. Hundreds of car owners who have bought and used synthetic Silvertown tires have written to The B. F. Goodrich Company.

Many say these tires are as good as pre-war tires. Others say they're the best they ever had.

Synthetic B. F. Goodrich Silvertown tires already rolled BILLIONS of miles. They've proved themselves under all kinds of service conditions. So, if you need new tires, and are eligible, we'll fill out and handle your application for you. When it's granted, we'll equip your car with proven B. F. Goodrich Silvertown.

USO Sponsors Dance At Deshon Annex

Fifty hostesses, provided by the U.S.O. and chaperoned by the same organization were at the Recreation building of Deshon Annex Friday night for the second of a series of dances held for the men at the Annex. The colored orchestra from Deshon General hospital provided the music and as it did the week before, got a big hand from the vets and their partners. The dance was arranged by Miss Dorothy Flack, Red Cross recreational director. The service men's committee in charge was composed of Sergeant Bernard Paul, Sergeant Joseph McClain, Sergeant Frank Lece, Corporal James Byrne and Private Joseph Gleser. The Red Cross committee headed by Mrs. Roy A. Long provided the refreshments and the orchestra was secured through Lt. L. T. Nealon, Educational Officer for the Annex.

POST-WAR DREAMS

Orchid Bath Water?

SOME OF AMERICA'S favorite—and most fanciful—post-war dreaming seems to center around the home of the future. Architects, builders, decorators, manufacturers—not to mention the guy who'll be paying off the mortgage—have let their imaginations run riot until we sometimes think that any resemblance these post-war glories will have to home as we have always known it will be purely coincidental.

A thought that gladdens our own particular heart is that, so far as we know, there's been no demand for rainbow tinted bath-water to match the décor. If that day should come, we'll try to oblige, since the good will of our customers is dear to our hearts. In the meantime, we'll remain faithful to our pre-war ideals for our product—pure, wholesome, abundant, and colorless.

St. David's Day Dinner Event

Program Presented At Annual Gathering Here On Friday Night, Much Enjoyed

St. David's Day, the day of the patron saint of Wales, was observed in the traditional fashion in New Castle Friday night, when 140 men and women of Welsh birth or descent met in the dining room of the Epworth Methodist church for the annual dinner of the Star of Wales Lodge, True Iovites of America and the women's lodge, the Martha lodge.

Like typical affairs sponsored by American Welsh, this one was given over to song and story, but mostly to song. Songs in both English and Welsh were sung by the crowd and by the soloists. It was a happy affair.

Excellent Dinner The dinner, served by the women of the Epworth church left nothing to be desired. Before eating, the crowd sang a verse of "America" directed by Griff Thomas who also asked the divine blessing upon the gathering. During the dinner Mrs. Thomas directed group singing with Mrs. John Myrdan Evans at the piano. Mrs. Evans also accompanied the soloists.

At the conclusion of the dinner, Mrs. K. Ward Reinhold, general chairlady of the evening, welcomed the guests and introduced a number of special guests. These included Judge John G. Lamoree, Grand Secretary of the Iovites, Daniel Hughes, President of Martha Lodge, Mrs. William H. Jones, Iovite President, Griff Phillips, and the committees in charge of the arrangements for the evening.

Mrs. Reinhold then introduced the toastmaster, Councilman D. O. Davies. Mr. Davies took but a short time in a humorous introduction and then got the business at hand, the introduction of speakers and singers.

Mrs. Richard Morris of Youngstown, O., formerly of New Castle, sang three numbers, "O Na Boddadn Haf o Hyd," "Oh That Summer Bloomed for Aye," "Gwlad y Bryniau" ("Land of Hills") and "No Place Like Home."

William Pritchard whose 88th birthday occurs today was present and read two tribuna poems in Welsh. His agility and keenness of intellect denied the 88 years to which he admits.

Dave Lewis was introduced and sang "Gwlad y Delyn" ("Land of the Harp"), "Beguilio" Gwethyn Gwin ("Watching the Wheat") and "I Love Life".

Grand Secretary Daniel Hughes, grand secretary of the True Iovites of America, was presented and spoke briefly on the history of the organization and urged a larger membership in New Castle. Judge John G. Lamoree was presented and extended his greetings to the group and expressed his appreciation at being present.

Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of First Congregational church, was the principal speaker of the evening. He spoke on "The Pride of a Noble Tradition."

Rev. Jones spoke briefly but to the point. He pointed out the fusion of the Iovites and the Goidals back in the early centuries of the difference between the two types, and their influence on the national life of Wales. He urged the people of Welsh descent to keep alive the cultural traditions of their forebears.

Two more songs were sung by the crowd before adjournment. "Huddersfield" and "The Star Spangled Banner," directed by Griff Thomas. Rev. Jones delivered the benediction and the annual St. David's Day dinner was over, a dinner that will be remembered for its pleasant atmosphere and excellent program.

Councilman Alexander To Seek Re-election

City Directors Of Parks And Playgrounds Asks Republican Nomination

City Councilman Joseph D. Alexander, director of parks and playgrounds and purchasing agent for the city, today announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for re-election to the post he now holds. His announcement follows:

"In the time I have served as one of your councilmen I have endeavored to spend the tax money as economically as though it were my own. We have the nucleus of a fine park and playground system in New Castle, one which will be enjoyed by future generations. This has taken money but every dollar expended has been spent as wisely as we knew.

"In the matter of purchases of materials for the city I have constantly endeavored to secure the best quality possible for the money to be spent. Savings have been made by careful purchasing and the record will show that no money has been wasted.

"In the past months your city council has given considerable thought and thought to post war problems. As one of the council I have added my ideas to those of my colleagues and I believe the combined thought and action of the council will result in a post war plan for New Castle that is sound. But I submit that post war planning should be done by men who know the problems of the city, know the background of the planning and have given of themselves to those plans.

"Your present city council, composed of the mayor and four councilmen, is in my opinion one of the most co-operative bodies ever to serve in city hall. For my colleagues let me say they have demonstrated their interest in this city by working together. This is not only of opinion. Quite naturally there have been disagreements, but they have been honest disagreements that had for the goal the improvement of conditions, not the realization of some selfish personal motive.

"I have been proud to serve as one of your city councilmen. By the consent of the voters I would like to continue that service. I ask the support of Republican voters in the coming primary election."

Party Needs At Deshon Annex Are Requested

A request comes to the public for party needs at Deshon Annex where convalescing soldiers returned from overseas duty, are now being entertained weekly by various groups. The USO staging every Friday night, a special dance. Those acting as hosts from time to time, at the Annex, will appreciate the prompt response to the following request:

It is observed that at least two large sized punch bowls are needed and at least one or possibly two large cookies jars have a place awaiting at the Annex, which will be kept filled for social activities.

Anyone who can contribute to this please get in touch with the USO telephone 6546.

Plan Development Of Rural Phones

Tariff Changes Have Been Filed By Bell Telephone Company To Reduce Construction Costs

Tariff changes enabling 96 per cent of the families living in the rural territory served by the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania to secure telephone service along a public highway, without charges for pole line construction, have been filed with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission. Promotion of rural development, however, must wait until manpower and equipment again become available, the company stated.

More than a year ago, the company began to re-examine very carefully the rural telephone problem, progress on which had been temporarily curtailed by the war. As a result of studies throughout the state, the company announced that approximately 43 per cent of the farms in its territory now have telephones. This compares with 50 per cent of the families in cities and towns who have telephones and is an all-time high figure—nearly double the telephone development of 20 years ago.

Since 1935, the number of telephones in the rural areas has increased 78 per cent. The increase in cities and towns during the same period was 63 per cent.

STOCK MARKET IS REACTIONARY

Trading Volume In New York Market During Morning Is Relatively Light

NEW YORK, March 3.—(INS.)—Security and commodity markets continued their reactionary trend today in relatively light volume.

The downward movement noticeable from the very beginning when such leaders as U. S. Steel fell 3-4 point on a sale of 1500 shares.

Speculative enthusiasm was considerably dampened by reports in the street that the Stock Exchange was considering eliminating margins for all stocks under $10 a share.

Late prices showed declines of 12 point in big steel and lesser amounts in U. S. Rubber, International Telephone and General Motors. Utilities were more resistant than the others.

Curb prices reacted. Bonds were unchanged to lower.

Paying 'In Kind' Will Keep German Industry Checked

Necessity Of Manufacturing Reparations Will Prevent Munitions-Making

By LEON PEARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 3.—An accurate preview of how and what Germany will be required to pay in war reparations was made available for the first time today.

Officials who did the spade work before the Yalta conference revealed that Germany will not be completely deindustrialized as advocated in the "Morgenthau Plan," but will be required to produce materials of all sorts for "payment in kind" over a long period of years.

Couldn't Pay Money

The President gave a key to this decision when he said that reparations in kind would "avoid the mistake made after the last war of demanding reparations in the form of money which Germany could never pay."

An earlier key was given in the Yalta declaration, which said the "Big powers are determined to eliminate or control all German industry that could be used for military production."

American officials explained today that this means the elimination of all obvious munitions making, such as tanks, bombs, rockets, guns and ammunition, and the control of every other type of German industry.

No Distinction Possible

But any attempt to make a sharp distinction between industry which contributes to the war and industry which is purely for peace purposes has been abandoned, since the Nazis have proven that plants producing typewriters can be converted to production of machine guns.

Thus it will become necessary to control whatever industry is not eliminated.

It is here, officials explained, that the major decision is being made to keep on paying "in kind" for a period of many years.

If reparations were demanded in the form of removal of all industrial producing equipment, the Allies would have—as one American official expressed it—"a one time grab," which would leave Germany without the means of producing other materials for reparations.

By way of example, it was said that a typewriter plant at Magdeburg, which had been converted by the Nazis to making shell casings, will now be reconverted to making typewriters, for export to the Allies, on the reparations account.

A far greater market for such products exists now than after the last war, it was pointed out, because of the demands of Russia for all sorts of consumer goods and equipment. After the last war the Allies were reluctant to take reparations in kind because of competition with their own industrial exports.

Temple Israel Purim Play Sunday

Program - Masquerade Party Is Sunday Presentation Of Religious School

Temple Israel religious school will present a Purim holiday program and masquerade party in honor of the Feast of Purim which was observed on February 27, the presentation to be Sunday afternoon, March 4, at 2:30 o'clock.

The feast commemorates the deliverance of the Jews of Persia through the intervention of Queen Esther and her kinsman Mordecai, from the enemy Haman. The feast requires reading from the Book of Esther and reciting a few special prayers, and is considered a social feast rather than to have a religious character.

Those taking part in the play are: Purim puppet show: Samuel Friedman, Marcia Lee Meyers, Rita Ann Zieve, Ellen J. Sinder, Philip J. Levine, Michael Perelman, Keith Skole, Freddy Robins and Sonora Lee Winer of the kindergarten class. The play is under the direction of the kindergarten teacher, Mrs. Philip Weiner.

Tiny masqueraders: Howard Myers, Sidney Sheinkin, Judith Levine, Sandra Blockstein, Saralee Gerson, Eleanor Schoenberger, Phillip J. Levine, Joyce Victor and Lynne Caplan of grades 1, 2 and 3. Mrs. Maurice Schoenberger and Mrs. Pierson Caplan are in charge.

Purim tales: Jean Friedman, Donald Victor, Judith Storch, Gilda Kahn, Jack Gonick, Suzanne Blau and Irma Jane Rose, Edward Sinder, teacher, in charge.

A Purim ballad, Margaret K. Solfer, will be read by Norma Davis. The chanting of a portion of the Book of Esther in traditional style will be given by Donald Levine. Also included on the program will be group singing of Purim songs and parodies by the school and audience. The masquerade party will consist of games and refreshments served by the Sisterhood of Temple Israel.

Rabbi Leo E. Turitz is the spiritual leader of Temple Israel synagogue.

Roosevelt Silent On Edward Flynn's Visit To Moscow

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(INS)—President Roosevelt refused on Friday to discuss or explain the reports for Edward J. Flynn's visit to Moscow. This was interpreted as confirming reports that Flynn's real purpose was an attempt to heal the breach between Moscow and the Vatican.

The president was asked about Flynn's trip to the Soviet capital at his news conference. Mr. Roosevelt avoided his customary device of brushing off a question with a quip when he desires not to give a direct answer.

Instead the president went into a brief off the record comment, which, without really answering the question, made it clear that Flynn's mission has great international significance.

reliably reported that Flynn's errand was to bring about a reconciliation between the Soviet government and the Vatican.

High church officials in the United States have described the proposals as being ready to listen to proposals which might heal the break.

United States refiners will be able to increase slightly in 1945 the quantity of premium motor fuel that can be manufactured for buses, fire engines, ambulances, large trucks and other essential vehicles.
